The Daily Oregonian.

No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 7, 1863.

The Removal of General Rosecrans.

The Mountaineer, simply for the purpose of lying about the OREGONIAN, charges us "with aiming insidious stabs at those who are charged with the management of the war," because we have dared to express our faith in Rosecrans, and our doubt whether the telegraph report first published, that he was removed for some fault on his part, could be true. In doing this we only followed the example of hundreds of other Union presses, many of which yet insist that the loss of the battle of Chickamauga cannot fairly be imputed to him. The very last Alta has a letter from a correspondent, dated New York, Sept. 29, which says that "the defeat, which it is now manifest General Rosecrans received near Chattanooga, was owing to the special blundering of the War Department. It was not the result of any deficiency of generalship on Rosecrans' part, but the consequence of a peremptory order from Washington to advance into the plains of Georgia against a really superior army, when he was in the very act of falling back to the strong defensive heights around Chattanooga. It is only the old story of Bull Run, the Richmond peninsula, the disastrous defeat of Pope, and the Heights of Fredericksburg over again. In this case of Rosecrans, however, it appears that a special Commissioner from the War Office did the business." According to the very loyal Mountaineer the Alta, by publishing the letter, "aimed an insidious stab," at the Government. The idea is supremely ridiculous. And the Sacramento Union, which has a repputation for loyalty, quite as full of years and of glory as the Dalles pape,r says that "the insinuations against this 'lately popular General' having been shown to be nothing more than the spurious coinage of an overzealous servant of the War Department, the question recurs why was the change of command at Chattanooga ordered? In the absence of that official explanation which Rosecrans himself leaves to the future, the most charitable theory we can conceive is this: The President, if not the War Department or the General-in-Chief, had been taught by the bloody check at Chickamauga the absolute necessity of more concentration and concert of action in the management of our military operations in the West. To effect these objects it was essential that a single General, of tried energy and capacity, should be appointed to command all the forces West of the Alleghanies, and from the great Lakes to the Gulf Department. Upon whom should this great office of wide-reaching responsibility be conferred? Grant was entitled to the position by virtue of his superior rank and splendid services. Burnside, Hooker, Rosecrans and Sherman were so nearly equal in rank and experience that injustice might have been done in giving preference to either. But why was not Rosecrans retained in a subordinate position at Chattanooga? We surmise that the General has not been on cordial terms with Grant since the Corinth campaign when the differences between them were the subjects of newspaper gossip, and that Thomas was substituted in order to prevent bickerings and secure harmony in the Department. This explanation will justify the President in making the change, but hardly excuse the shelving of so efficient a General as Rosecrans, while our forces in Virginia seem to be in want of a commander possessing enterprise and strategic ability."

We always endeavor to furnish our readers with news obtained as best we may, from all reliable resources, and our earnest support has been, and always shall be given in every possible way to the Government in its efforts to suppress the rebellion. We do not think it is done by concealing important intelligence or by justifying and praising an act which is doubtful. We submit to it, and will endeavor to be satisfied, for that is our duty, if it is a material thing, but if it simply is a matter of opinion, we claim and insist upon the right to discuss it fairly and truthfully, and are willing to have our loyalty tried thereby. More than this we shall not quarrel about, with the Mountaineer, which less than a year ago, was baser in its subserviency to the cause of secession, than any paper in the State. Perhaps instead of lying about the OREGONIAN to its Boston correspondent, it had better send him its files for December, January and February last, and so save us the trouble. It will thus "prove its faith by its works."

THE DIFFERENCE.—The Mountaineer says that the OREGONIAN has "ceased to have influence with any considerable portion of our citizens." It may be, though our vastly increased circulation during the last year hardly indicates such a result, and if true, we are still much better off than the Mountaineer, which never began to have the slightest influence for good with any one whatever.

A little girl showing her cousin, about four years old, a star said: "The star you see up there is bigger than this world." "No it ain't," said she. "Yes it is." "Why, then, don't it keep the rain off?"

Oregon City Woolen Factory.

OREGON CITY, Nov. 5, 1863.

At a meeting of the citizens of Oregon City and vicinity, to canvass the project of a Woolen Factory at this place, a committee of fifteen was appointed to confer with Mr. Harvey in regard to water power and site for the proposed Factory.

On motion the meeting adjourned to Saturday evening, November 7th, when a general attendance of all who desire to encourage Home Manufactures, upon which the ultimate growth and prosperity of our country so vitally depends, is requested.

Ordered that a copy of the proceedings be forwarded to the MORNING OREGONIAN for publication.

A. L. LOVEJOY, Chai'n.

JOSEPH D. LOCEY, Sec'y.

We sincerely hope the project suggested in the above proceedings will meet with full success, and cannot suppose that any will allow private interests, whether imagined or real, to interfere with and finally defeat it. In our judgment, there can be no doubt that such a work accomplished will vastly increase the value of all other property in Oregon City, and while we believe the parties concerned will cheerfully give the proprietor a fair price for the water power and land needed, we presume his usual discretion and his desire to see the place prosper will hinder him from demanding such a one as will be exorbitant and impossible.

THE SLAVERY QUESTION.—Greeley, of the Tribune, and the editor of the National Intelligencer, have been discussing the question as to what shall be done with the slaves of the South. The Intelligencer is an organ of the conservative order, and we were somewhat surprised to find it at all inclined to radicalism. The editor says:

"All that we would desire of the President in regard to slavery is to let it alone as a policy. Wherever our armies came in conflict with slavery it was competent for them to convert it to the military use; it was to be regarded in the light of any other property, as the President said be regarded it. But the theoretical universal abolition of slavery was as much beyond the President's power as it transcended his constitutional right. We should not ask the President to restore the slaves legitimately taken into the public service any more than we should ask the restitution of any other property forfeited by a rebel. Nor would the South be by any means unanimous for the restoration. We know that there are thousands in the South who would gladly get rid of their slaves if they could."

"To let it alone as a policy," we suppose the editor means that the President shall entertain no political plans for its extermination other than those aiding in the prosecution of the war, which is termed "policy." All right, says the President. When a State is loyal, the status of the negro is not disturbed. But as for slave property in the hands of traitors he cares not what becomes of it, provided the traitors do not bring it in as an aid to the war. In that case he goes for taking it away from them, whether considered as a necessity or polity. Every disloyalist's slave property is confiscated by the Emancipation Act, and there is no use talking about restoring that property to the former owner. The Intelligencer can call the Proclamation a policy or a necessity document. When the rebel States get back into the Union, they will come back without a single nigger.—Marysville Appeal.

AN OBSTRUCTED STAGE ROAD.—The stage road between this and Oregon City was obstructed, during the gale of Thursday, by the falling of trees, no less than nine of which had to be surmounted by the stage on its passage down to the landing in East Portland, from which place the passengers crossed in small boats at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. We are told that in order to make any progress in the night, it became necessary for the passengers to alight and assist the driver to pile logs, brush, stones, and everything that could be used to advantage, on either side of the prostrate monsters, so that the horses could climb and draw the vehicle over after them. It is much to be hoped that arrangements will speedily be made to bring the mail down from Oregon City per steamer. Indeed from present appearances, there will soon be left no alternative. We understand that Mr Richardson, the Superintendent of the Line is to be here on the 12th inst., when some arrangements for the winter will doubtless be effected.

COURT MARTIAL AT VANCOUVER.—A general court martial was convened at Fort Vancouver, W. T., on the 5th inst., for the trial of 2d Lieut. John F. Noble, 1st O. Cav. Vol., composed of the following members, viz.:—Capt. L. S. Scott, 4th Inf. Cal. Vol., President; Captains W. V. Spencer and W. W. Thompson, and Lieutenants J. W. Clawson, Jas. E. D. Jestor, and A. E. Woodson, all of 1st W. T. Inf., and Campbell D. Emery, 9th Infantry, Judge Advocate. The Hon. Lansing Stout is counsel for the accused.

SANITARY FUND.—The Ladies' Sanitary Aid Society acknowledge contributions from Mr. Hadley (Eugene City), $10; B. Henry, $10; L. M. Starr,* $5; H. W. Corbett,* $50; P. C. Schuyler, jr.,* $15; Mrs. DeWitt,* 50c.; Member of Society, 50c.; Mr. Burrage,* $4; R. H. Brown, $5; Mrs. S. E. Frambes,* 50c. Total, $100 50. Acknowledged October 6th, $2,033 75; receipts from Reception given by the Society, $537 20. Total $2,671 45.

The names marked thus * are those of our monthly contributors.

VOTE OF THANKS.—At a meeting of the Vancouver Sanitary Aid Society held on Thursday, Nov. 5th, 1863, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"That the thanks of the Society be presented to Mrs. Julia Dean Hayne, for the highly intellectual entertainment she afforded the residents of Vancouver yesterday evening, in her readings from Shakspeare and other eminent poets." ANNIE C. COVINGTON,

Sec'y of the San. Aid Society.

Vancouver, Nov. 5th, 1863.

European Intelligence.

The Vanderbilt has arrived and was repairing in St. Simons Bay. No further captures by the rebel vessels are reported. Captain Semmes will not, from motives of prudence, seek an engagement with the Vanderbilt, but if his vessel should be blockaded he will endeavor to elude her as he did the San Jacinto at Martinique. He is of the opinion that the Vanderbilt is much faster than the Alabama, and that if he should come to close quarters he could not get away.

Eastern News.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The Herald has the following, dated Headquarters Army of the Potomac. Oct. 28th: Considerable changes have recently taken place in the relative positions of the Union and rebel armies. There is no immediate prospect of a battle. The enemy are taking care to avoid anything like a general engagement. Late intelligence makes it probable that Lee's recent demonstrations were feints to cover a more important movement. But for the sudden change of attitude we should have had a fight wherein it is believed the advantages would have been important to us.

The rebels have made several petty captures of late, including a few officers. No material advantage was gained on either side during the recent skirmishing.

Yesterday morning some pickets of the 6th Corps were fired upon, but the attack was not followed up. To-day all appears quiet along the Rappahannock.

A special dispatch to the World, dated Washington, Oct. 28th, says: There has been the usual light skirmishing along the front to-day, though indicating no probability of an engagement. It seems to be a settled fact that the enemy has resolved to act on the defensive, to prevent our forces from crossing the Rappahannock, as it is ascertained, at last, that but a small force of cavalry and a brigade constitute all the rebel troops on this side of the river. The entire country between Washington and the army is now nearly relieved of guerrillas.

Several deserters from the enemy who have come into our lines relate startling stories of the sufferings of the rebel troops for clothes, and even for food. They also state that Gen. Hill is under arrest for failing to carry out his instructions in the advance of his corps on General Meade.

NEW YORK, October 29.—Last evening's Washington Star says: It is certainly known here that our prisoners in Richmond were never so badly treated as at present. They are being starved by the rebel authorities, and more or less of them are actually dying from exposure to cold in their nakedness. The excuse for this treatment is, that the rebel Government does all it can—their troops in the field faring nearly as badly. The War Department is straining every nerve to relieve our brave unfortunates.

The Tribune's Army of the Potomac dispatch, dated Oct. 28th, says. There is nothing indicating a considerble body of rebels in our front. The recent artillery and cavalry demonstrations, which have been exaggerated into formidable engagements, are regarded here as nothing more than attempts on the part of the rebels to discover our position.

On Monday (26th) a dash was made on our pickets near Fairfax, which resulted in nothing. Lee's boasted campaign has degenerated into raids upon the railroad for the purpose of interrupting the reconstruction of the line. Accounts agree as to the utter destitution which prevails at the South.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Gen. Meade has, within a day or two, made some changes in the position of his forces, looking to the better protection of those engaged in the construction of the Orange and Alexandria Railroad. While this change was being effected, at about 3 o'clock yesterday morning, the rebels made a demonstration on the 6th corps, but nothing was accomplished, except driving in the pickets for a short distance, when the rebels retired.

Senor Romero was to-day received by the President as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the Juarez or Liberal Government of Mexico.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29th.—An immense mass meeting of unconditional Union men was held to-night on Monument Square. It was the largest meeting held here for many years. There were many transparencies and fireworks. On one stand was the inscription: "Union and Emancipation." Among the speakers were Secretary Chase and Judge Kelley, of Philadelphia.

NEW YORK, Oc. 29.—The Herald has the following in its city news:

Marshal Murray yesterday made some important arrests of parties with documents. Three of these persons are well known business men of this city. The documents, it is said, throw light upon certain operations relative to Vallandigham and the rebels. They may be given to the press at some future time, but at present are withheld.

CAIRO, Oct. 29.—Gen. McPherson's expedition to Canton resulted in the destruction of a large number of rebel mills and factories, the defeat and dispersion of the rebel cavalry, and the general discomfiture of the guerrillas infesting that section.

Mexican Intelligence.

Advices from the city of Mexico are to October 1st, one month later.

There had been no movements of late of the French with the exception of an engagement which took place in the valley of Apan, between about 4,000 French soldiers and traitors and Mexicans under Negrete and Rivisi. The French were routed and fled, leaving everything in the hands of the Mexicans.

The Juarez Government was increasing its forces daily, and at the present time the General-in-Chief, Porfiro Dias, has under his command 27,000 men between Queretaro and San Luis Potosi.

It was reported that Gen. Forey previous to his leaving the city had made a demand on the French Government for a hundred thousand additional forces, for the purpose of forcing refractory States to submission to the Imperial Government. It was believed that the reply from the French Government was that they would send him 30,000 and no more. This was supposed to be the principal reason why Gen. Forey wished to return to France. He had stated that as soon as the rainy season was over and his reinforcements arrived he intended to move some of his forces to the capitals of several of the States to compel them to submit to the monarchy.

It is reported that news had been received from Senor La Fuente, that since his arrival at Washington he had succeeded in making a treaty with the United States Government, wherein the latter would loan the Juarez Government four millions; also, 100,000 muskets, and cannon and ammunition; further, that a force would be sent to the Rio Grande, for the purpose of acting in concert with the Mexicans. This rumor had created a great deal of comment in the Franco-Mexican newspapers published in Mexico. What tended to give more credence to this rumor was the fact that Corwin, the American Minister, has refused to hold any intercourse with the present provisional Government. On the celebration of the birthday of Napoleon III., he did not join in the festivities, and during that day he did not hoist the American colors in front of his office.

A reign of terror existed in the city of Mexico, and the whipping stake and shooting the prisoners were practiced daily.

A great deal of destitution existed among the poor classes and all kinds of food was very high in price.

The guerrillas were daily becoming bolder and were at the last accounts within 12 miles of the city of Mexico. They had visited several of the little towns around, where they captured several small detachments of troops and sent them as prisoners to the interior.

A conspiracy against the Imperial Government had been discovered in the city of Mexico, and a large number of persons had been imprisoned. Some of the conspirators were shot and some sent to the island of Martinique.

J. R. HAMILTON, M. D., Homeopathist,

WOULD respectfully inform the citizens of Portland and vicinity that he has located in said town, for the practice of his profession.

Ye sick and ye weary, why linger ye still
Where doctors with poison your system will fill;
Why linger ye still in the old beaten path:
Try the sweet globules and I am sure you will laugh;
You will laugh and grow fat when freed of life's ills,
And bless the M. D.'s that dispense sugar pills.

Then come with your budget of symptoms so rare,
The globules are potent, you need not despair
While the life-blood flows propelled by the heart,
If science is there old pains will depart.
Then beauty and health to your cheek will return,
And for earth's greatest blessing no more will you yearn.

With health for your aid, the battle's half won;
Your friends will feel happy to see you look young,
And you will think less of the battle of life
When the discord of ignorance is lost in the strife.
Then say to your neighbors a great boon I have found—
Homeopathy is the thing for the priest or the clown.

NO DISPATCH.—The stage arriving yesterday morning brought us no telegraphic news. The summary of news presented to-day we collate from the latest California exchanges, and are of even date with our telegram given yesterday, which is now received more in detail. Last night's stage not having arrived as we go to press, and there being no communication with Salem, we are unable to get any later intelligence.

RECORDER'S COURT.—It seems that Judge McCoy is determined to put a stop to the barbarous habit of drawing deadly weapons on the most trivial occasions of dispute, that has of late prevailed to an alarming extent in this city. The hombre who pulled a pistol as a concluding argument and got soundly threshed for it on Wednesday afternoon, received from the Recorder a ticket for twenty days' rations, and was mulcted to the tune of $50 and costs. A few such examples may result in a decrease in the number of pistol assaults.

ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning, at about nine o'clock, while the crew of the bark Julia Cobb were engaged in discharging cargo, the hook of a tackle-block which supported the after part of the staging broke, and caused the end of the staging to "come down by the run." Three of the hands were upon it at the moment, two of whom were thrown clear over the hatchway and landed safely upon the deck; the other, quite a youth, was precipitated into the hold, striking the lower part of his face upon the iron water-pipes which constitute a part of her cargo, bruising him quite badly, but breaking no bones.

THE LATE STORM.—The effects of the storm of Wednesday and Thursday were not confined to this city and the overland mail route entirely, but it appears that down towards the sea-board it was very heavy. The snug little mail steamer Cowlitz started out from Monticello on Thursday, with the Sound mail on board, but after taking a snuff at the gale, had to return to the wharf, and did not reach here until yesterday at 2 o'clock, P. M.

GOLD DUST.—Taking all things into consideration, the amount of dust received by the Wilson G. Hunt last evening was not heavy. Wells, Fargo & Co. received 150 pounds, and Tracy & King 1,000 ounces. Eighty passengers came down, among whom we understand are about 300 pounds.

RUMOR.—It was rumored last evening that a poor blind man had been found in a shed at the lower end of the city, nearly exhausted from having tasted no food during the last three days. All efforts on our part to learn the truth of the rumor, or the circumstances from which it originated, proved futile.

REPAIRING THE LINE.—A party left here yesterday to repair the telegraph line between Portland and Oregon City, which was broken in several places by the falling trees.

BOUNTY FOR RE-ENLISTMENT.—Volunteers re-enlisting for three years or the war, under General Orders, No. 305, Adj. Gen.'s Office, Washington, Sept. 11, '63, are entitled to a bounty and premium of $402, and soldiers of the regular army who re-enlist under General Orders No. 190, are entitled to a bounty of four hundred dollars.

"INVALID CORPS."—By reference to "General Orders, No. 37," in our advertising columns, it will be perceived that an Invalid Corps will be organized in the Department of the Pacific.

OPENING NAVIGATION.—We are informed that the steamer Onward will leave Canemah for Corvallis on Monday morning. She is to connect with the steamer hence for Oregon City.

A GOOD THING—The completion of the sidewalk in front of Carter's new brick block.

THEATRICAL.—The performance last night was not as well patronised by the dress circle as it deserved—on account, we presume, of the walking and dark streets. Mr. Waldron is an earnest and truthful delineator of Macbeth, and made some points which would have elicited favorable criticism for actors of less modest pretensions. Mrs. Hayne's Lady Macbeth was a thrilling personation, and the company as a whole did exceedingly well.

PANORAMIC.—Pindor's Panorama left here on the steamer yesterday morning, and will be unfolded to the gaze of the people at the Dalles this evening. It is well worth seeing.

We congratulate the editor of the little Mountaineer upon an opportunity thus presented for his learning which army carries the Stars and Stripes, and which the black flag. When he finds that the "loyal" portion of the audience cheers for the American Flag, he can the more advisedly than hitherto, and will doubtless reverse the positions which he has thus assigned to his own journal and ours.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS.—A very valuable lot of magazines, pictorials, and news periodicals have been deposited on our premises, each bearing the "brand" of Charles Barrett's News Depot, Front street, Portland. Keenly sensible of the donor's generosity, and confident that if the large number of strangers in the city were made aware of a chance to get a dollar lot in exchange for gold, they would call, we take the liberty of saying that he has on hand, now, and always, a fresh supply of all the leading periodicals of the world, without reference to the language or country in which they are printed. Receiving all his stocks from first hands, they cost him but a small sum, comparatively, and he can therefore sell them at figures which do not embrace the usual profits and commissions of half a dozen precedent firms.

PUB. DOCS.—We are indebted to the Hon. J. R. McBride, M. C., for valuable Congressional documents.

Fifteen Years.

BY THEODORE J. ECKERSON, U. S. A.

Fifteen years, dear Lizzie,
On their course have run,
Since our vows were plighted,—
Vows that made us one.
O, the clouds, the sunshine,—
O, the smiles, the tears,—
O, the joy, and anguish,
Of these fifteen years!

Heaven has kindly sent us,
As our path we've trod,
Little hearts to love us,—
Little souls from God;
Five still travel with us
Up the mountain steep,—
Five are left to love us,—
One has gone to sleep.

O, that night of horror,
When the spirit fled,
And we sat, despairing,
Watching with our dead;
Vainly, vainly clinging
To our darling one,—
Holding back the answer,
"God! Thy will be done!"

Fifteen years have taught us,
That, with wearied feet
Thorny paths are trodden,
Though the flowers be sweet;
Cups of woe are given,—
Hours of deep distress,—
Pointing us to Heaven,
Home of happiness.

Fifteen years, dear Lizzie,
On their course have run;
Do I love thee better
Than when they begun!
Could I ope my bosom,
Thou would'st joy to see
Not a warm pulsation
There, but throbs for thee!

When fatigued and sickened
With life's many snares,
Ah, full well thou knowest
How to soothe my cares;
On that faithful bosom
I recline my head,
All the world forgetting—
All my troubles fled.

Thou who liv'st for others,—
Thou, who, oft in pain,
Still thyself ignorest,
Others' health to gain,—
Thou, whose intuition,
When I'm prone to stray,
Scans the hidden danger,—
Points the better way;

Thou, my guardian angel
In all times of need,—
Could I cease to love thee,
I were lost indeed!
Could thy gentle nature
For one moment doubt,
Hope would flee, and sunshine
Fade in darkness out!

Fifteen years, dear Lizzie!
O, through fifty more
May we walk together
To that better shore,
Where the thornless roses
Of a world of bliss
Shall make up forever
For the thorns of this!

VANCOUVER, November 2, 1863.

God's Soldier.

BY T. S. ARTHUR.

"If I were only a strong man!"

A sick girl sat propped up with cushions, near an open window, in the early September days, while summer yet lingered among the green leaves and flowers with which she had beautified the land. Not far away from the gates of death. She knew it, and was not afraid.

"If I were only a strong man! But I can do nothing."

She sighed a little while afterwards, letting the white lids, with their thick fringes, fall over her glittering orbs.

"Nothing, Alice?"

The shut lids flew open, and the bright eyes were in the questioner's face.

"What can I do? I am not a man."

"No. You are a weak, sick girl."

"So weak, that these poor hands cannot even knit."

"Just so weak, Alice." The voice was burdened with tenderness.

"There are sick soldiers in our hospitals. But I cannot even visit them, nor do so small a thing as to hold a cup of cold water to feverish lips."

"No, you cannot do even this."

"I am helpless. I can do nothing! And yet, I would give my life, if that would avail anything, for our country. To me, people do not seem to be half in earnest—do not seem to comprehend the peril in which we are involved. Men talk of business and gain, and women of dress and pleasure, as if no enemy were at the gates, mad for our destruction. I feel, sometimes, as if I must cry out from the windows, and warn the people of a danger they do not appear to dread."

"If you could infuse your spirit into one who has the strength to stand up in the face of our enemies."

The sick girl raised her head from among the cushions in a half surprised way.

"My spirit into another?" she said.

"Yes."

"Into whom?"

The answer did not come until her question was repeated. Then the name "Howard" was spoken.

"Howard!"

It was evident that a pang had gone through her heart. Her lips fell quickly, and her face buried itself among the purple cushions.

"When our country is in danger, God lays upon us the duty of offering for its defense even our most precious things."

The sick girl lifted her head again. If the pale face could be paler, it was paler now.

"Howard is brave and patriotic," she said.

"I believe it, Alice."

"If I were not so weak, Aunt Phœbe. If the time were not so near at hand. Three years, or for the war! I should never see him again in this world! Oh, Aunt Phœbe, I am not strong enough for this!"

"Only in the degree that God gives us strength are we strong enough for any trial," was gently answered. "You asked, 'What can I do?' and the question is answered. Pour into another heart your strong enthusiasm. Vitalize another soul with your intense patriotism. I have watched you closely, Alice, when Howard has been here. You are not, apparently, the same girl then as you are when he is absent. You do not talk as strongly about the war, and if he shows anything like military ardor, are silent. Not a single stimulus, so far as observed by me, have you offered to his love of country. Is this right? Are you doing your highest duty in thus seeking to hold him back from the ranks of patriots and defenders? I think Howard brave; I know him to be sound in principle. He belongs to that class of men who make the best soldiers. And why is he not in the army? The answer is with you. Speak the fitting word, and he will move at once to the call of duty. Into his manlier strength your warm life shall flow. On the battle-field your brave words will be in his thought and make him invincible. What can you do, Alice? You can give a man to the army of freedom—a man filled with your own spirit, counting not his life dear so that his country is saved."

For a while Alice laid silent with her eyelids closed; at length she said, lifting her eyes meekly upward,

"I am strong in Thy strength. Take all of earthly support, I will lean upon Thy everlasting arm."

"Oh Howard!" What a flash of joy went over her countenance!

The door had opened and a young man entered. He was in age not past twenty three; yet he had a firmly set mouth, an eye of strength, and the step of one whose thoughts were already maturing into distinct life purposes.

"If you were not so weak, Alice." There was a meaning in his voice beyond the mere expression of regret.

Alice felt this, and, as she tightened her hand, answered—

"If I were not so weak—what then, Howard?"

His mouth grew serious. He looked at her for a while, and then his eyes dropped to the floor.

"What then?" She pressed him for an answer.

"I would go from you for a little while."

He saw her start. But instead of grief or pain, a soft smile lay upon her lips.

"Where?"

He stood up, drawing his form erect.

"I am a man—strong, healthy and of full stature."

She did not answer, but her eyes were in his face.

"Do you understand me, Alice?" His voice was just a little unsteady. He sat down again, taking the hand he had relinquished a moment before.

"I think so." She spoke evenly.

"When our country calls upon us, Alice, God calls."

"I believe it," she answered.

"It has called upon me—has been calling for months. The summons is in my ears day and night, and, without sin, I can no longer remain disobedient. But how can I go, and you so weak, so frail? Oh, Alice, it is not that love has diminished, but the call of duty grows more and more trumpet like every hour."

"You speak truly, Howard," was the firmly given answer. "When our country calls upon us, God calls. I have heard the voice, and recognizing it as the voice of God, have looked up, asking, What can I do? I, so weak, so helpless—just ready to be blown away by a breath—not able to minister even to my own needs. Oh, I have trembled in every nerve with excess of desire to respond."

"Let me take of your spirit," said the young man. "Let me lift from your weak shoulders the burden of active duty and lay it upon my own. Strengthen me with your love! Say to me go forth and offer the service of two hearts. I am ready to beat your gage of honor to the battle field as a true loyal knight."

"Go forth," she answered, "and may God give you courage and endurance!"

* * * * *

The time of parting came. Alice had not dared to trust herself to think of this hour. Would she have strength for the trial—strength of spirit? Yes. But the heart would beat stronger and faster with human emotions; and the frail body might not bear the strain.

"God's love and God's strength go with you, Howard!" She tried to be calm and brave. "Be a true soldier. I shall be near you—always near you Howard!"

He kissed her over and over again. Drew her wildly to his heart. Gave her a long look of impassioned love. Then, without utterance tore himself from the room.

A messenger reached him an hour afterwards as he was marching to the place of embarkation. The nature of this summons was such that he obtained leave to remain behind, and join his regiment on the next day.

The ordeal of parting had been too severe for Alice. When the scene passed she became so weak and tremulous that she could no longer sit among the cushions in her great arm chair, but had to be lifted to the bed, where she lay with shut eyes, and breath so low, that Aunt Phœbe, as she stood over her, was sometimes in doubt whether the chest moved or not. Half an hour she thus lay. Then her lips moved, and as Aunt Phœbe bent down her ear she caught the whispered name of Howard. It was then that she despatched the messenger, who was just in time to reach the young soldier before his departure.

"Alice!" The voice went down to the region of consciousness. Slowly the lids upraised themselves, and there was light and joy in the eyes that looked into her lover's face.

"Oh, Howard!"

"You know me, Alice?"

"Yes."

"Who am I?"

Her eyes, now fixed and becoming glassy, were looking steadily into his eyes.

"God's soldier!"

As the words left her lips, a brief smile played over them. Then the eyelids fell, and a veil was drawn over the ashen face. It was the veil of death.

"God's soldier!" said the young man, as three days afterwards he turned in tears from a new made grave. "'Without fear, and without reproach!' Amen!"

Prompt to the call of duty; patient under suffering; all-enduring; tender to the sick as a woman; quick to aid the weak; pure from all sin, and brave as a lion in battle—so did this soldier of God, into whose life had flowed the lofty enthusiasm of another life, move among his fellows. Into their spirits his spirit was infused. They felt the motions of his undaunted courage, and found, in his true words fitly spoken, an inspiration to noble deeds. Give such men to our armies, and having justice on our side, victory is sure to perch upon our banners.

God's soldiers! Men inspired by no thirst of blood—no hatred of their fellow men—no mere love of danger and mad adventure, but self-devoted for their country; strong and brave from a sense of duty; ready to lay down their lives to defend the great principles of human rights when assailed. These are they who, in the present great contest, are most needed. Send them forth, true wives, mothers, sisters, maidens. You know them. Lay no restraining hands upon their garments—put no hindrances in their way. God's soldiers must now to the field, for all the powers of hell are moving to destroy the outposts of civil freedom.

INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable,) hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers have opened upon suffering humanity the flood-gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor Whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles and big bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters; which instead of curing, only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair.

Hoofland's German Bitters!

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public; and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of letters from the most eminent

CLERGYMEN,
LAWYERS,
PHYSICIANS
and CITIZENS,

Testifying of their own personal knowledge, to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If so, use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects; I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore, thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

J. NEWTON BROWN.
PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1861.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whiskey or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused, and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result of it is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt. Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whisky, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine-tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters:"

PHILADELPHIA, August 23d, 1862.

Messrs. Jones & Evans.—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer State of Maine, from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; and, accordingly, the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months; for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly yours,
ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to life.
